Deadline to receive applications: December 19, 2021 at midnight.

In 2022, the Roquette Foundation for Health will award its second research prize of 25,000 euros. The award is aimed at young researchers under 40 years old (at the closing date for applications), registered in a university or school in the following countries: France, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, Lithuania, Germany, Belgium, Finland, Poland.

The research prize rewards or supports any particularly innovative research, thesis, dissertation, or publication that answers the following question:

To be eligible, the work must come from research, whatever the discipline—basic research, clinical research, human and social sciences—and must be publishable in order to meet the general interest.

A candidate may submit only one application for the 2022 edition.

The prize, endowed with 25,000 euros, will be awarded to the winner (up to 10,000 euros) and to his or her team within the laboratory (up to 15,000 euros) for the continuation of the prize-winning work.

To apply, please send an email to the following address: <fondation@roquette.com> in order to receive the link allowing you to submit the complete file before December 19, 2021 midnight.
